To You

Through our high-school life so fair
Our dear mascots have been there.
Eighth grade, ninth grade, tenth grade, too,
They have been with all of you.

Demons, Dragons, Greyhounds, all,
In the class and in the hall.
At the games and at our dances
Through the crowd each symbol prances.

All our school life they have been Inspiration, now. . .and then.
Though the years may come and go,
These, our symbols, we'll all know.

When back on these leaves you glance,
Will you think of us, perchance?
Laughing, climbing, clowning, too,
They bring this Year Book to you.

The Religious Drama Club of Reynolds High School holds its weekly meeting on Thursday morning under the leadership of Mrs. Stella Price, Bible teacher at the school. It takes part in numerous activities designed not only to improve the moral life of our school but also to arouse interest among the students in the Bible and its teachings.

The best known contributions to our school are the many devotional chapel programs throughout the year. Also in the line of chapel programs are the presentations of the Christmas and Easter pageants.

Once each year the Religious Drama Club joins with Miss Anna Lula Dobson in sponsoring a contest in which students compete by memorizing Bible passages. The prize, a Bible, is presented through the courtesy of Miss Dobson to that student who learns and recites the most verses. This contest has become an annual event.

One of the various community services taken part in by the Religious Drama Club was the distribution of cheer items and other social services to some local shut-ins during the Christmas season.

Another of their city-wide contributions was the obtaining of bookmarks from the American Bible Society, having daily Bible readings listed on each, and distributing them throughout the city schools to each student.

The gala event of the year was the banquet for the city Bible departments on Friday, March 5, in the Reynolds cafeteria. This is an annual affair designed to bring the Bible students of the city together in a body with local ministers, members of the Winston-Salem Christian Association and other interested citizens. The project was deemed a success by all attending.

Officers for the closing term were Bill Trotman, president, Ann Brown, vice-president, Mary Elizabeth Coleman, secretary and Bill Chapman, treasurer.

Mr. Sterling Russell, Jr.
Editor-in-Chief
Winston-Salem City Public Schools
Winston-Salem, North Carolina

Dear Sterling:

I certainly appreciate the honor you have conferred upon me. But you surely gave me a tough assignment to choose the most beautiful girl.

The girls are all so pretty, it was almost impossible to make the selection. However, after much deliberation I have done so, and my choice is indicated on the back of the picture.

I hope all the students will realize that the selection was made entirely on the basis of the photographs submitted. No doubt some of the pictures do not do justice to the girls and others might be quite flattering.

I certainly hope my selection meets with the student-body's approval.

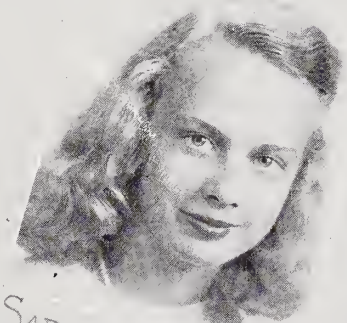

Again thanks for the honor and for your interest.

With best personal wishes, I am

Sincerely,
Kay Kyser

HANES PROPHECY OF THE CLASS OF '48

I was talking with Bill Stanfield and George Stack the other day, and they told me they had just completed work on a time machine. Bill, with his scientific brain and the help of George's mechanical knowledge, worked after school and into the wee hours of the morning, striving to build successfully the latest invention.

Bill told me they were getting ready to test the machine and invited me to go along. I accepted the invitation and the three of us went to the laboratory workshop at Bill's home.

We entered the glass-enclosed structure, and Bill set the dial for 1960 in New York City. He then pushed a lever, and we were confronted with a whirring sound and total darkness. We were moving at a rapid rate of speed, and then started to slow up as a faint light began to trickle into the machine. Then the machine stopped and we found ourselves right in the middle of Times Square.

Now it was daylight again, and we heard a whistle with someone shouting for us to move on. George looked out and told us that a huge policeman was approaching. He looked familiar, and then we recognized him as Olen Moore, a former classmate.

Olen greeted us warmly and told us we had better move our machine before it was hit by one of the new jet baby carriages. While talking to Olen, we learned that Don Reid was mayor of the city, and that Dixon Roberts was testing yo-yos manufactured by Stewart Yo-Yo Co., owned by Betty Jean Stewart. We then said good bye to Olen and were off to see the city.

As we were crossing Fifth Avenue, George was knocked down by a Taxi. The cab stopped, and out stepped Bill Edwards. Bill told us he was working for the Peavis-Sechrist Cab Company, owned by Norma Reavis and Betty Sechrist. We then proceeded down great Broadway to the Lawson theater operated by Marian Lawson. The Sappenfield Follies, directed by Sara Sappenfield, were playing that night. To my surprise, some of my old classmates were chorus girls, and proved to be quite a hit. They were: Mary Beth Markland, Elizabeth Smith, Betty Lou Anderson, Nell Weddle, Betty Jean Kirby, and Sara Burns. Dot Sawyer was the guest vocalist, and John Beck was the director of the band.

As we were leaving the theater, a man was standing out front shouting, "New York Times". I went over to buy a paper, and the man turned out to be David Bodenhamer. David got the position after graduating from Duke University. David's boss was Horace "two point" Denny, a retired pro basketball star who bought the paper in "56". David told us that Peggy Hardister was manufacturing left handed baseball bats.

After we had said farewell to David, we heard a siren. It turned out to be a firetruck. Then we saw a fire down the street and ran to see what it was. It turned out to be an automobile on fire, and we recognized the motorist to be Wanda Lou Johnson. Wanda Lou explained to the fire chief, Randolph Corley, that she had dropped a match into the gas tank to see how much gas she had. When the commotion died down, we decided to find a hotel for the night.

During our search we passed Sampson's Pool Parlor, run by Gwyn Sampson. After passing Gwyn's place, we saw a neon sign which read: Bill's Bar. We discovered that the bar was run by Bill Andrews, who became angry and quit baseball when Joanne Chilton became manager of the Yankees. Bill doesn't like women bosses. While we were there, Walter Russell came in with several cases of beverage. Walter was working for the Welborn Distributing Co., operated by Erlene Welborn. I noticed such drinks as Snyder's Cider, bottled by Bob Snyder, and Phillip's Red Wine, bottled by Phillip Redwine. Bill told us that Bob Talbert was running the leading hotel in town, so we decided to spend the night there.

When we reached the hotel, Bob told us that Fannie Jean Tatum was the woman tennis champion of the world. She seemed to have quite a racket.

I ripped my pants while changing clothes and called the bellhop to take them somewhere and have them fixed. He said he would take them to Saylor's Tailors, run by Carl Saylor.

I turned on the radio, and a program of vocals sung by Peggy Smith was interrupted by news commentator, Frank Aldridge. Frank announced that presidential nominee, David Rikard, had won over Senator Bilbo in a landslide election.

I then sat down to look at the paper, and noticed heavyweight champion of the world, Bill Bowman had been challenged by Delores Sealey, first woman boxer. Two advertisements in the paper attracted my attention. They were: Brown's Gowns, manufactured by Bill Brown, and Strupe's Soups put out by Louise Strupe.

We retired early because we wanted to go to the circus the next day. It was the Wooten-Wright Circus owned by Dot Wooten and Doris Wright. It was at Kogas Square Garden, named after the town's leading citizen, John Kogas.

The next day at the circus we saw the world's fattest man, Jimmy Clinard. Jack Minish was the strong man. I asked Jack how he got the job, and he said he just muscled in on the deal. Bonnie Isiminger was the human electric wire. She told me she got a large charge out of her job. Devota Ashburn said she got a good cut for her job of sword swallower. Betty Lou Largen, the human pin cushion, was complaining that she was getting stuck with her job. Nancy Flynt and Melba Fox, the Siamese twins, seemed to be quite attached to each other. Alice Dooley was a bareback trick rider.

We decided we had seen enough and started to leave when the "pop" man came by. He turned out to be Jack Wright, who was selling Cooke's Cola, bottled by Jack Cooke. While talking to Jack, we learned that Tommy "Fatback" Dority was professor of English at New York University, and that Ken Doyle, famed scientist was working on a theory to isolate gravity.

After leaving Jack, we met Dots Cranfill who said she was manicurist at Carter's Beauty Salon. Phil Carter, outstanding hair stylist, was the proprietor. We learned from Doris that Bill Freeman was writing a book entitled: "Ten Ways To A Lady's Heart". It was to be published by the Anderson Publishing House, owned by Tomasue Anderson. We also found out that Clarice Self was running Self Service Food Store.

We decided to go back to the machine and get back to 1948. On the way to the machine we met Judy Bryan who was selling Franklin's Almanacs, published by Louise Franklin. Judy told us that Colleen Whitaker and Mary Louise Williams were washing windows in the Empire State Building with toothbrushes. Judy also told us that Peggy Lewis and Betty Lou Johnson, famous clothes designers, were trying to make one of the new long skirts for the Statue of Liberty.

Not being able to take any more, we dashed off to our machine. We wanted to get back to dear old 1948.

HANES HISTORY
OF THE CLASS OF '48

Having energy and time and seeing the handwriting upon the wall for the period of the last five years, I shall let the pen take its own course

We, the first class to come to Hanes High in the eighth grade, were a bunch of happy youngsters. Yes, we were anxious and ready to start those big careers which are gained in attending high school.

What happened to us seems like a dream that started with a hazy beginning but ended in a clear, fleeting finish. As each successive September rolled around, it became evident that the yearly school term train was picking up speed. What could we possibly do in such a short time? Another close observation of the handwriting upon the wall reveals to me these facts.

This class has stamped itself as a class of achievement. How? By accomplishing the following things in the five years between 1943 and 1948,

During the first year we spent all of our time getting used to the high school surroundings, the many different activities, and the seemingly complicated laws of the school. Everything was going at a furious pace, and were we anxious to join. It was different from elementary school. New friends were made easily. Our futures were in these walls, and we were full of pep and energy to go after them.

After seeing the year swiftly pass by, we were ready for our freshmen year as September of '44 came by.

This year our class began to make itself known. The Y-Teens had attracted many girls out of our class. These were: Delores Sealey, Sara Burns, Louise Franklin, Devota Jean Ashburn, Melba Fox, Nancy Flynt, Betty Stewart, Peggy Hardister, Colleen Whitaker, Mary Beth Markland, Sara Sappenfield, Fannie Jean Tatum, Bonnie Isiminger, Marian Lawson, Erlene Welborn, Gwyn Sampson, Mary Louise Williams, Wanda Lou Johnson, Joanne Chilton, Judy Young, Betty Lou Johnson and Betty Kirby. The girls, showing that they had an interest in the school, went into other fields, such as: sports, dramatics, chorus work, librarian work, and participation in the minstrel! With sports their main topic in conversation and thought, some of the boys started playing on some of the midget and reserve teams of the

“Weavers of Speech”

To you, who each day
Take on anew your tasks
Along the lines that speech will go
Through city streets or far out
Upon some mountainside
Where you have blazed a trail
And kept it clear;
To you there comes from all
Who use the wires
A tribute for a job well done.

For these are not just still
And idle strands
That stretch across a country
Vast and wide
But bearers
Of life's friendly words
And messages of high import
To people everywhere.

Not spectacular, your usual day,
Nor in the headlines
Except they be of fire, or storm, or flood.
Then a grateful nation
Knows the full measure
Of your skill and worth
And the fine spirit of service
Which puts truth and purpose
In this honored creed—
“The message must go through.”

various sports. We felt that in future years we would hear something about what they were doing. Winding up our first year in what we thought was a good start in high school was the selection of the "Most Outstanding Freshmen". This honor went to Mary Beth Markland, who has certainly proven through the years that she is certainly an outstanding girl. Then came summer.

After a seemingly long summer, we joined together early in September to start our Sophomore year together. As sophomores we felt bigger and more important. The class also gained a new student, Louise Strupe, who has helped the class quite a bit. This year proved to be the year for the boys to make their efforts in the past year pay off. During the year we had representatives on the varsity football squad. Classmates were also playing in the band, on the newspaper staff, in the Hi-Y, and playing on the midget and reserve teams of the school. One clear note that sounded was the fact that some of our boys were singing in the chorus. They were slowly getting out of their bashfulness. Just as everything seemed to be rolling along smoothly, we turned in our books and headed for the wide open spaces; summer was here again.

Coming back to school after a shorter-than-ever-summer, the thought in every junior's mind was that at last he had arrived in high school. The first thing was the greeting we gave to new faces. Welcomed into our grand junior class were Eugene Whitaker, Elizabeth Smith, Betty Lou Largen, Philip Redwine, Alice Dooley, and Betty Ann Sechrist. Then we all got down to business. Our classmates were representing us well in all the extra-curricular activities, but we got new honors which made us very proud. At the first National Honor Society induction, David Bodenhamer, Mary Beth Markland, and Nell Weddle were tapped. At the second induction Melba Fox, Elizabeth Smith, Erlene Welborn Betty Kirby, and Bill Brown were added to the selected few. We also had members in the Excelsior club, on the Red Pencil Survivors staff, and in the Ushers Club. Another honor came when Alice Dooley was inducted in the Quill and Scroll. On the newspaper staff, in the debating club, and in the office were found some of our class. To make the year complete, we had the junior and senior annual dance at the Robert E. Lee Hotel. As all of us started home for the summer, we could feel the tip of the diploma touching our fingers. "Isn't life wonderful?" we thought.

Seniors, seniors at last! Now we had that senior privilege, to sit in the front seats of the auditorium. But with that we also picked up a few people to help us occupy them. Into our class came a newcomer, Peggy Smith, and seventeen stay-over seniors.

Next we chose our officers, class day officers, and superlatives. Since then we have been kept busy by the thought that all is not well until the diploma is in our outstretched hands. The honors have not been bestowed yet on any senior for any particular thing, but my pen won't rest until I have mentioned that Doris Wright won the Beryl Wallis Music Award and Mary Beth Markland has been chosen as Hanes High's D. A. R. Representative. I only hope that other classes' histories will mean as much to them as this one means to us. During our five years at Hanes, we have striven to create higher ideals in character, leadership, scholarship, and service. This has been our goal. If we have reached it, our lives as well as the life of our school will be enriched.

HANES LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF '48

We, the graduating class of John W. Hanes High School being of sub-normal intelligence and supernatural bodies, and realizing that we are by far the most important class ever to leave these beloved portals, do bequeath and publish this our Last Will and Testament in order to pass on our worthless but cherished possessions to anyone who is courageous enough to accept them.

ARTICLE I

Section I: To our beloved principal, Mr. R. S. Haltiwanger, we, the seniors, leave our most sincere "Thanks" for the everlasting patience and attention he has bestowed upon us, and the inspiring examples he has set before us during our stay at Hanes High.

Section II: To Miss Dungan, Senior Advisor and English teacher, we leave our deepest and most gracious appreciation for the expert guidance and understanding attitude she has shown toward us.

Section III: To our faculty we give our best regards and deepest gratitude for the efforts they made in vain to educate us.

Section IV: To the rising Seniors we leave all the hard studies, big books, summons slips, red F's, and the one remaining Senior Privilege, the front seats of the auditorium.

ARTICLE II

Section I: Bill Freeman leaves his bashfulness to Bill Avery in hopes that Bill Avery will soon learn how to charm the women.

Section II: Alice Dooley leaves her very successful feudin', fussin' and fightin' with Miss Dungan to Juanita Parrish who has been fighting a losing battle.

Section III: Peggy Hardister leaves her tallness to Emily Jolly because "Tiny" Emily needs height to become a success in sports.

Section IV: Betty Jean Stewart leaves her large waist line and heavy weight to Patsy Carroll in hopes that Pat can do more with reducing than Betty Jean has done.

Section V: Doris Cranfield leaves her way with the males and her winsome personality to Pat Perkins who may succeed.

Section VI: Dot Sawyer and Joanne Chilton leave their athletic ability to Barbara Rogers and Sue Hall who could put it to good use.

Section VII: Bill Brown leaves his charms, good-looks, and way with the women to Horace Wagoner in hopes that Horace will progress more rapidly.

Section VIII: Bob Snyder leaves his place on the football bench to Dick Wright who will probably sit there anyway.

Section IX: Bonnie Isiminger leaves her double dealing to Mary Anne Sprinkle who seems to already know how the feat is accomplished.

Section X: David Bodenhamer and Elizabeth Smith leave their calmness, personality, and intelligence to Bud Lawson and Betty Lou Crafford.

Section XI: Carl Saylor and Olen Moore leave their height to John Isiminger and John Cass so some day all four may have the same eye level.

Section XII: Jack Cooke leaves his "Quarter-back position" and "Touchdown technique" to Paul Simos who should be able to cover the necessary ground to drive Hanes to victory.

Section XIII: Tooty Sealey leaves her fondness for the Cooke brothers to anyone with the courage and strength to survive this strain and ordeal.

Section XIV: Bill Stanfield leaves his poise and grace to Bill Raye Southern who needs the above virtues.

Section XV: Bill (Charles Atlas) Bowman leaves his manly physique to Buddy Tuttle who is rather under weight.

Section XVI: Mary Louise Williams, Wanda Johnson, and Louise Franklin leave their inseparable companionship to Peggy Blalock, Pat Tesh, and Betty Sue Bowman, since these girls are not fickle.

Section XVII: Mary Beth Markland, Erlene Welborn, Louise Strupe, and Melba Fox leave their meanness and disobedience in class to Peggy Newell and Luanne Hightshoe.

Section XVIII: Bob Gibson, Jack Wright and Dixon Roberts leave their "baby ways" to Hugh Holder, Robert Stone, and Acey Adams.

Section XIX: Peggy Lewis, Clarice Self, Collen Whitaker, and Nancy Flynt leave their pleasant personalities to Nancy McAbee, Martha Ann Kennedy, Antia Fulp, and Nancy Jackson.

Section XX: Bill Andrews and Kenneth Doyle leave their skill in baseball to Jim Stevenson and Harold Gibson so that Hanes may come out on top again next year.

We hereby appoint the four most respectable and loved students of Hanes High, Tommy Dority, Bob Talbert, Phillip Carter, and Bill Edwards, executors of this, our Last Will and Testament.

PROPHECY OF
THE CLASS OF 1948

Scene: Palace of Tarquin, king of Rome in the year 613 B. C. Tarquin sits upon the throne as Sibyl, the prophetess, enters. She is carrying a container holding nine scrolls. Sibyl: At last the king deems it wise to grant this one audience. If you but knew what I have here, how you—

Tarquin: (interrupting) Speak, hag! I have no time for such as you.

Sibyl: Then listen carefully. I have in my hand (she removes one of the scrolls and unrolls it slightly) the very key to the future of the world! I, the greatest sibyl of all, now offer the King of Rome these nine wondrous books.

Tarquin: Bah! Nonsense! This is foolishness—but what is the price?

Sibyl: Ah! The king wishes to buy? The price is truly small for objects of so great worth—five hundred thousand pieces of gold.

Tarquin: (outraged) Five hundred thousand pieces of gold? Leave at once, insane one, and return only when the price is lowered within reason!

(Sibyl leaves and Tarquin, with an angry countenance, paces the floor, muttering to himself. Time passes, and Sibyl enters once more.)

Sibyl: Oh, the mighty one frets? Perhaps he is anxious for the future?

Tarquin: So, you have come back—and the price? What is it?

Sibyl: The same, O King, but for one detail: there now remains six great books wherein the future is recorded. For five hundred thousand pieces of gold you shall view what is written therein.

Tarquin: (storming) Did I not forbid your return until the price is lowered? Begone with you, witch! (To himself) Six books for the price of nine, and an exorbitant one at that!

(As Sibyl leaves, he paces as before, muttering to himself, but with his outraged features showing a slight tinge of curiosity. Time passes and Sibyl re-enters)

Sibyl: The king rests uneasily of late? (she chuckles softly) Mayhap he regrets his folly. But fear not, King Tarquin, for I have come to offer one final chance. It is true only three books remain, but a taste is better than starvation, is it not? Perhaps it is proof you desire before purchasing these marvelous writings. (Taking one of the last three scrolls from the container, she reads to herself. Then, aloud:) Hmm—Aha—

Sibyl: This seems to be the prophecy of the class of '48 at Reynolds High School in the year 1968. I see that much has befallen this illustrious group. I shall read you some of the fortunes of these students in the 20 years since graduation day:

"In the year 1968, several former pupils are back at their old alma mater in various roles. Jack Hunter is principal of the school. Teaching history are Betty Lou Depp and Pat Warren. Bobby Hamer has taken over as physics teacher, and Peggy McNair, author of the new Latin textbook, is Latin teacher. Some of the coaches are also graduates of R. J. R. Curt Edwards is coaching basketball;

But what of commercial interest is there? Aha! "The competition between Lloyd Abree and Beverly Blair over the sale of a new hair dye is red hot. Both are also trying to get the right to produce Charles Tomlinson's Perfect Peroxide Prescription. Tommye Harris, owner of a nation-wide chain of drug stores, wants to buy this product, but the beauty expert, David Dudley, has not given his stamp of approval to any of them. The drug store owner bases her success on two marvelous products: one is a delicious brand of candy called "Butter Balls", made by Laura Fry, a famous home-tested recipe patented by Betty Ruth Cunningham. The other, put out by "Sooky" Fain, is called "Bottled Personality." Jodie Stryker and Helen Jackson have been collaborating on a series of commercial art posters advertising the wonderful formula. Anne Hughes is chief model. Another top ranking artist is Harrison Rucker, now with Keyhole Detective Magazine.

Ha! That is enough. I think that now his majesty needs no further conviction of the worth of this property.

Tarquin: So be it, woman. I must admit defeat. How now stands the price of these three?

Sibyl: (With a toothless grin) Why, the same as before, great king. Are they not the same books?

Tarquin: Aye, that is so, but it is a hard bargain you drive, prophetess. (He reluctantly delivers the gold) Now the books. Quickly!

(Sibyl hands him the scrolls and he unrolls the first rapidly, starting to read out loud.)

Tarquin: Listen! There is more about that same interesting group of people.

"Leslie Browder, after many years of study, is a prominent authority on "Bugs". Laurie Hill is owner of a large concern for speed testing automobiles. Bobby Hudson, his assistant, remains in the shop overhauling "T" Models at 50 cents per day. It was here that David Crissman, powerful magnate of James Cycle Manufacturing Company, got his start. Another high in the field of inventive genius is Garth Wilson, with his famous "Garthburger", made from none but the finest meat from Tyn-dall Smith's Mutilated Meat Market. Marjorie Moore has been called in to nurse all those not able to withstand its terrific effects. She is the private nurse for the eminent physician, Frank Driscoll.

The all-girl orchestra, under the direction of a man, has been superseded by "Del's Bells", all-male orchestra, led by Delores Johnson. Members are Jim Clark, Don Kimel, Eugene Bell, Ed Travis, Julian Bullock, and Fred Carter. Head agent for that successful band is Jane Pepper, former literary critic for "Lit" magazine.

In the field of literature, news of greatest interest is that of the initiation by Tom and Dick Stockton of a correspondence course on "How to Win Women". They are being assisted by that able society secretary, Lucy Lunn."

Yea, woman! This is indeed magnificent. Read from the other. I must know more of what is to come to pass in that faraway year.

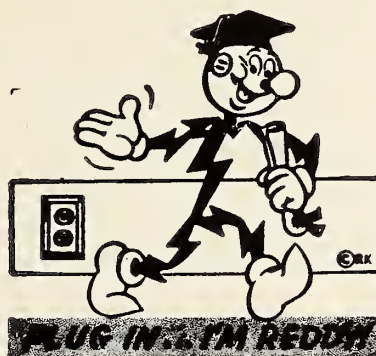

Sibyl: Very well, O king, I shall comply. (She takes the last scroll and begins reading) "Helen Bryant is the first woman mayor of Lewisville. Other women of distinction are the celebrated lecturer on "How to Train Mice and Men", Ann Crews; the talented authoress of the thrilling novel, "Hit or Miss", Sara McMichael; and Mary Lib Harris, star reporter on "The Cat's Meow".

Tarquin: But what of the men who have risen to the top and success? (takes scroll) Hmm— I see!

"Lary Misner is now head stock-room boy at Kress's. Also Francis Pepper has gained possession of his father's warehouse chain. Head boxing coach at Walkertown Y. M. C. A. is Johnny Poolos. Ab Alexander finally reached the position of chief strong man with the big top. He achieved this, however, only with the aid of special prefabricated muscles developed by Johnny Smitherman in his own basement. The muscles were patented "Bar Bell".

Sibyl: O, Tarquin, I would turn the scroll and read further. (She takes the scroll and unrolls more of it reading aloud) "Hollywood has claimed many of this group. Lucy Leake is making her last picture, "Percy Nality", also starring Don Powell, the film capitol glamour boy. Hollywood is keeping its eyes on playgirl Sara Long, and Mary Stevens is not far out of sight. Charlie Myers is hailed the funniest wit to hit the big town since 1967. Taking lessons from Arthur Murray's copartner, Harry Palmer, occupies most of Juliette Revell's time when she is not working on a picture. Ann Evans has given up her musical career in pictures to open an elite California Country Club. She has engaged that wizard

HISTORY OF
THE CLASS OF 1948

By Anne Russell and Martha Maynard

(Clio, muse of history, is busy recording events of the moment. Enter Terpsichore, muse of song and dance.)

Terpsichore— Work, work, work—is there no end to your labors, Clio?

Clio— No, my sister, one must record history as it is made. Draw near, so that you may see how it is done.

(Terpsichore draws near, and they begin to read.)

Terpsichore— O, Muse, let us sing the praises of this noble class.

Clio— Very well— In the autumn of 1944 a band of freshmen entered the R. J. Reynolds High School to secure knowledge. Among the group were leaders such as these class officers: president, Dick Stockton; vice-president, Dick Davenport; treasurer, Tom Stockton. The council representative for the year was Johnny Smither-man.

Terpsichore— Yes, and these students held the class offices in their sophomore year: president, Sid Whiteheart; vice-president, Johnny Smitherman; secretary, Tommy Alspaugh; treasurer, Francis Pepper. The same year the entire student body bestowed the honor of treasurer on Tom Stockton.
The class was represented in the council by Francis Pepper and Johnny Smitherman. As a sophomore group they were becoming accustomed to high school life.

Clio— Indeed this class was becoming very social-minded. In this their junior year, Harmony Hang-out played an important part in their social life.

Oh, and listen to this. Here are some of the greatest of their athletes: Curt Edwards, Abner Alexander, Don Kime, Billy McCracken, Bill Fritts, Tom Stockton, Phil Frazier, Bob Hamer, Dick Stockton and Les Browder.

Perchance some of these athletes surpassed even our own Roman marathon runners and discus throwers. Laurels, too, should go to all other athletes who participated in sports of football, basketball, tennis, golf and baseball.

Terpsichore— All this is remarkable to say, but weren't there any girls who dared to compete in sports?

Clio— Why, yes, let us not forget to mention also those notable athletes: Kitty Robinson, Lillian Butner, Marjorie Moore, Nancy Belton, Betsy Pool, Mary Lasley and Martha Stallings.

Terpsichore— Again I see names of some who were becoming quite prominent in their class. The officers for that year were: president, Sid Whiteheart; vice-president, Francis Pepper; secretary, Jane Pepper; treasurer, Dan Hinkle. This year Tom Stockton was elected secretary by the student body. Among the outstanding in the student government were these council representatives: Betsy Pool, Johnny Smitherman and Sid Whiteheart. The social event of the year, the Junior-Senior, was quite successful, under the supervision of Miss Collette. (pause) It seems that Venus herself, was responsible for the senior marshalls: Jane Pepper, Ann Crews, Madeline Combs, Ann Hughes, Marjorie Moore, Betsy Pool, Juliette Revelle, Joann Stryker, Pat Lounsbury, and Lucy Jane Fain.

The senior class was well represented in all phases of school activities. The student government offices were filled by Sid Whiteheart as president, Dick Stockton as vice-president, Abner Alexander as speaker of the house, and Ann Crews as the speaker pro-tempore. Jimmy Forcum, Dan Hinkle, Tom Stockton, and Joann Stryker took over the job of being council representatives.

Terpsichore— Because of her varied interests in school activities, Ann Crews was elected to be our D. A. R. spokesman. Ann began high school by becoming a member of the varsity debating team in her freshman year. Jack Hunter, a debate critic for two years, also became a member of the varsity de-

Clio—Minerva must surely have had a part in the lives of these!

Terpsichore— Yes, indeed. It is true. Here are some other talented speakers; Lucy Leake, who won the Kiwanis Reading Cup in 1947, and Nancy Ezzell and Jeremiah Johnson, who were finalists in the speech contest.

Clio—Oh, and let's not forget those eminent in the field of dramatics: Frank Driscoll, Lucy Leake and Lahoma Poindexter.

Terpsichore—The Quill and Scroll chose also these students active in the journalistic field. These were Beverly Blair, Madeline Combs, Mary Elizabeth Harris, Sara McMichael, Nellie Paynter, Zane Robbins, Kitty Robinson, Anne Russell, Joann Stryker, and Mildred Teague.

The National Honor Society inducted thirty-eight members— a record enrollment. They are as follows: 1946-1947, June Carpenter, Madeline Combs, Ann Crews, Laura Fry, Jack Hunter, Helen Jackson, Lucy Lunn, Jerry McMinnis, Sara McMichael, Marjorie Moore, Jane Pepper, Betsy Pool, Nancy Sheets, Dick Stockton, and Tom Stockton. 1947-1948, Nancy Lee Belton, Bobbie Bowles, Mary Elizabeth Coleman, Betty Ruth Cunningham, Nancy Ezzell, Mary Elizabeth Grimes, Jimmy Forcum, Mary Elizabeth Harris, Tommy Harris, Delores Johnson, Mary Lasley, Lucy Gray Leake, Nancy Martin, Katherine Michael, Miriam Paris, Mary Frances Parsons, Anne Russell, Bobby Smith, Jean Stockton, Joann Stryker, Carolyn Vernon, Pat Warren, and Catherine Williams.

Clio—Here is something that should be of interest to you, Terpsichore. The outstanding members of the voice department were Nancy Davis, Ann Evans, Rebecca Hinkle, Ann Hughes, Nancy Hundley, Margaret Jones, Barbara Lee, Gloria Monk, Ann Marie Ridenhour, Jean Stevens, Mary Lou Vaughn, Betty Wade, and Alice Wallace.

Those talented in instrumental music were Eugene Bell, Julian Bullock, Fred Carter, Jim Clark, Ray Crouse, and Delores Johnson.

Terpsichore—This last year Ann Hughes was chosen "Queen of the Piedmont Bowl", probably because her beauty is so like that of Venus herself.

(Clio looks at the time, rises from her seat, takes Terpsichore by the hand, and leads her to the edge of eternity. Together they look down on the present. Clio speaks.)

REYNOLDS
LAST WILL
AND TESTAMENT
OF THE CLASS OF '48

We, the Senior Class of Richard J. Reynolds High School, our sound minds slightly shaken by our last fervent attempts to graduate and our once healthy bodies somewhat weakened by the strenuous exercises in Physical Ed, do hereby make, bequeath, and publish this, our last will and testament, leaving the rest of our feeble but cherished possessions to the following:

Article I
Section I

To Mr. Joyner and the faculty we leave our sincerest thanks and appreciation for the many things they have done to make the way ahead of us just a little easier. We hope they will understand our reasons for waiting until now to tell them. High School would have been a dreary ordeal if we had accepted meekly and unquestioningly everything that was given to us. We're grateful for the patience the faculty had with us when something did not receive our approval. Deep inside we knew it was being done for our own good, but somehow we felt a little better when we could gripe about it.

Section II

To Miss Whitley and Miss Weaver, our sponsors, we leave our deepest apologies for the gray hairs and sleepless nights we must have caused them to have. If we have seemed unappreciative, we hope they will forgive us and accept our love for their being true friends and wise counselors.

Section III

To the Juniors we leave our coveted seats in the front of the auditorium and that feeling of pride we felt each time we marched down the center aisle.

Article II
Section I

Section III

David Brenegar leaves his parking place (at school only!) to John Wood.

Section IV

Pat Lounsbury, that lass with the educated toes, leaves her dreams of Broadway to Phyllis Shepherd and hopes she will reach the top. We know that Pat will.

Section V

Fred Carter, alias 88 Keys, leaves his boogie-woogie music to Coy Carpenter.

Section VI

Jean Stevens leaves her abundance of bows (hair bows, that is!) to Jane Bagnal.

Section VII

Bill Caudle leaves his pessimistic views of Russia to anyone who is brave enough to take them. Miss Weaver's second period class didn't seem to want them!

Section VIII

Barbara Lee leaves her tireless energy to the cheerleaders of next year. If they accept half of her pep, Reynolds High School will really have a revolution in school spirit.

Section IX

Frances Davis, Carolyn Yokely, Peggy May, and Ann Ford Scales leave their well-worn book "How to Make Him Pop the Question in Ten Easy Lessons" to anyone in need of such valuable information. They also wish to remind you that since leap year is half gone, you had better take heed.

Section X

Kitty Robinson and Zane Robbins leave their knack for meeting the "deadline" (a trait all who take journalism yearn to have) to Mimi Lynch and Fred Hege.

Section XI

So that the school won't lose all its attraction for the boys when Ann Hughes leaves, we bequeath a part of her beauty to Ann Bondurant in hopes that she can make you forget Ann's absence.

Section XII

Since the boys have been taken care of, we want to be fair to the girls, too. Francis Pepper has consented to bequeath his good looks to Charles Kammerer.

Section XIII

Lucy Leake and Frank Driscoll leave their dramatic ability to Bill Trotman and Peggy Alderman.

Section XIV

In hopes that your debates next year will be as fiery as those that Ann Crews and Jack Hunter have made possible, we bequeath their brains and their ability to win an

by Gaynell Reece

Along with the news of today comes that of an intangible barrier known as "The Iron Curtain", which has been formed around the boundaries of Russia.

But in view of the curtain standing between the present and the future, this barricade is to us of little importance.

With thoughts of graduation it is not too difficult for us to become eager to find out what is going on behind this barrier blocking our visions of the future, and, by obtaining some supernatural powers, pierce this "Iron Curtain".

Once behind the scenes and into 1958 we will need a means of transportation. We go to one of the leading manufacturing plants owned and operated by Forest Ader and, borrowing funds from the Alspaugh Finance Company, purchase the latest in atomic powered rocket ships. Of course, it's one of J. D. Gardner and Jack Parrish's most recent models.

After hiring Barbara Cole as a pilot (my, that's some job for a lady), we are off at the speed of sound to the great city of New York. After landing in the city, we hail a Christie Cab and reach the heart of the Metropolis in no time at all. Police Chief Elbert Baucom seems to have the traffic problem well in hand, as not once were we halted by

REPORTERS FOR "CUB COMMENTATOR"

A WSJS Saturday Morning High Spot

Standing are, Betty Bowman, left, and Patsy Gough, Chatterers from Hanes and Gray. Roving Writers not shown are Jackie Means and Martha Campbell.

"Of the Students, by the Students, and for the Students" is the theme of the "Cub Commentator" program heard over WSJS every Saturday morning at 9:45, all year 'round. Reported, edited, and presented by the students themselves, "Cub Commentator" keeps the high schoolers up-to-date on the "goings-on" around the campuses.

Entertainment of every type is furnished by guest stars from the schools—talented vocalists, pianists, dramatic groups and glee clubs.

The most popular column on the program is unquestionably the "Chatterbox". "Plain Clothes" reporters on the Campuses dig up bits of news about the romantic life around town, and no one is spared when it comes to spreading the news about "Who's With Whom and Where". A "Chatterbox" is placed at a strategic place in the schools and students may write their news items and place them in the box, hoping to hear their news the next Saturday morning. The program's own three girls take turns at presenting the "Chatterbox" on the air.

The quarter-hour broadcast has been on WSJS since February, 1946, when it began as an experimental newscast. During the summer the vacationing students are kept posted on what everyone is spending his time doing.

Friday afternoons are wild moments for the "Cub Commentator" staff members when they gather in the Pine Whispers room at Reynolds to compile Saturday morning's broadcast. Phones are ringing, typewriters going and students coming in and out wanting this and that on the air.

For the High-Spots in 2000 High-School Lives It's "CUB COMMENTATOR" every Saturday morning at 9:45 over the JOURNAL-SENTINEL STATION.

traffic jams, which were so frequent before his working out the problem.

In order to keep up with this rapidly changing world, we stop at Paul's newsstand (Staley, that is- and buy a copy of the Hennis Hot News, leading newspaper in the city. Barbara Wilson, Patsy Gough, and Betty Loflin appear to be star reporters on the staff, with Sam Seawell serving as chief photographer.

Glancing through the pages, we see that this paper has done well in publicizing former Gray students. We notice that Juanita Smith and Nancy Lawson are making their debut with the Metropolitan Opera Company tonight. Emily Stonestreet won last year's Pulitzer prize in the field of science for inventing a more modern wolf trap.

Norman Crews made a talk yesterday on "Child Psychology" to the National Convention of Kindergarten Teachers, of which Helen Kellette is vice-president. George Hemrick has at last fulfilled his desire for playing, as he is now manager in the toy department of Oscar Bishop's Five and Ten Cent Store. Nancy Boles and Sylvia Dowell are in charge of a nursery located in the store.

We understand that Betty Norman, Hope Holland, and Bonnie Casey are leading contenders for the "Miss Housewife of 1958" contest, of which Lindsay Spry and Jack Clowers are judges.

Winner of the National Girls' Athletic Association's basketball tournament this year is a team sponsored by this year is a team sponsored by Blakeley's Bubblegum. According to a report by Coach Gene Morgan, Dorothy Neal is the main stay on the championship team.

Who is this coming down the street? Why, it's Nancy Wall and Peggy Pope, acrobats with the Stewart Vaudeville. I hardly knew them after their taking Betty McBride's reducing course. Another former classmate with the vaudeville, whom we failed to recognize at first, is Nell Markland who has just completed Otis Everhart's body building course.

We hear that Jerry Jones has gone a long way in the model business, in fact all the way from airplanes to girls. Polly Carter, Joan Weisner, and Joyce Hampton are top-paid employees in his model agency.

Who is that little lady who is making such a big name for herself in the lights on Broadway? Why, it's none other than Geneva Marsh. We see that she is now co-starring with Juanita Cope in Pat Wilkin's latest box office smash.

Virginia Baity has stunned the masculine eye with her latest hat creations. Margie Brown's millinery shop has been leading the sales of this newest attire.

Whee--What was that streak which just passed? Don't worry; it was only Hollis Sink, executive in Jim Jones' shoe factory, taking the secretaries for their noon-day ride in his limousine. We noticed Gloria Hauser, Louise Walsh, and Ruth Gordon were occupants of the car.

Dot Martin and Iris Raker are still keeping their ability to stick together, as they are now owners of the Stickum Glue Factory.

Since our graduating class of '48 has spread out into many places, to unveil the future of them, all it is necessary to cross the continent. After boarding our ship, the next stop is Chicago. There in the university we see Marjorie Dwiggins, Gaynell Reece, and Orpha Gatewood on the teaching staff. Betty Jean Atkinson is secretary to the school's president.

We hear that Delphine Windsor and Nancy Smith are now operating a dry cleaning establishment. They guarantee to give clothes a spotless clean by that new King method. Grace Long and Violet Pierce have taken up nursing in the nation's newest and largest hospital. Mildred Newell is supervisor of the nursing staff, while Barbara Swaim is dietitian.

Linoel Shaver, the boy whom it took so long to discover that chairs have four legs, has revolutionized the classroom by placing rockers on all the chairs in the Ideal High School, of which he is principal. Charles Drum, music director in the school, reports that the principal has also placed bubblegum machines in all the classrooms.

A chain of beauty parlors has just been set up under the managership of Vera Dees. Betsy Taylor and Bettie Stoker operate shops on the chain. Corrine Worrell has recently opened a health club for women, with Sara Brown employed as trainer. Fried chitterlings are a specialty at Paul Jones' restaurant.

The final lap on our trans-continental flight takes us far west, out California way. Arriving at the Hollywood airport, we are met by a familiar character who asks us to smile. Why, it's Randall Jones only wanting to know if we are wearing that "Nimmo Smile", referring to the brand of tooth paste he advertises.

Jessie James (our Jessie, that is) seems to be shooting them down as fast as ever in his newest Western serial. Joyce Price, Pat Ruff, and Mary Frances Motsinger appear to be doing well on the screen, also. Head of the make-up department in Rose Moser's movie studio is Martha Campbell. She manufactures all the power and paint used as well as wigs.

Wilburn Wooten and Frank Jaro are continuing to pour forth their never ending stream of gab. They have taken over the limelight in the field of comedians since the former Abbot and Costello duo faded out of the picture some time ago.

Donald Orander and his All-Girl Chorus have just completed a concert tour of the nation. Mary Ann Bobbitt, Mary Brown, Theresa Ridge, and Nancy Russell are a featured quartet on the program which is seen over the WSW, (Walker, Sparks, and Weavil) television network twice weekly under the sponsorship of Hudson's Hair Dye.

And, speaking of music, Robert Whitney has turned out to be that swoon crooner of '58. Ruth Stovall, Christine Ferguson, and Virginia Vaden, efficient but hard-working secretaries, are having quite a time keeping up with all the fan mail. Rudolph Perryman is his press agent.

Charlotte Elliot, Virginia Staley, Wanda Sprinkle, and Louise Woods, members of the Silence Is Golden Club, were recently heard in a heated debate on "Women's Fashions, Yesterday and Today." It seems as though Peggy Groce and Jeanne Shaw are leading the fashion parade this year, as skirts are once more starting their upward trend after a long dip in '48. Janice Scott seems to have retained as a librarian her desire for books.

Thelma Clodfelter and Betty Biles recently observed the eighth anniversary of their opening of a dress shop. Flowers for the occasion came from the Pfaff Flower Shop. Kate Fort has been with the establishment as a seamstress for five years.

Wait! Across the street we see another former classmate. It is Mary Katherine Charles, noted composer, and she is just entering Mary Ruth McKnight's art studio for a portrait sitting.

Rachel Blanton has become famous as a lawyer in her law firm located next to the doctor's office in which Bonnie Kesler is employed as medical secretary.

Almost exhausted from a busy afternoon we have a great desire to spend the night in the Hutchins Hotel and try out one of those new Merrell Mattresses, but if we were to continue our visit in this world of 1958, we should miss the many good times which we had planned for the decade following graduation; so in order not to miss one moment in our span of lives, we again penetrate the curtain and return to meet the events as they come.

GRAY HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '48

by Burton Rights

Being members of the first eighth grade in Gray High School, we were not astonished as were previous freshmen classes at the long corridors and many classrooms when we entered the freshman class in September of 1944. Dramateers from our class that year were Martha Campbell, Geneva Marsh, Frank Jaro, Wilburn Wooten, Juanita Cope, Nancy Wall, and J. D. Gardner. The annual public speaking contest was won by Frank Jaro, while Martha Campbell was designated as best actress for the year.

In our sophomore year we began to take part in more school activities. Geneva Marsh was the secretary of the school, and Randall Jones was assistant secretary. Members of our class who were debaters were Geneva Marsh, Nancy Wall, Juanita Cope, and Martha Campbell. Christine Ferguson was managing editor and Lindsay Spry was sports editor for the Gray Light, at that time a mimeographed paper sent to Gray alumni in service. Burton Rights was boys' sports editor of the Pine Whispers, with Mary Ruth McKnight, art editor.

Nancy Wall, Geneva Marsh, and Martha Campbell were inducted into the Masque and Gavel. Paul Jones was chosen as a member of the all-star football squad, and the Forsyth County American Legion Contest was won by Nancy Wall.

Our junior year began with Randall Jones as vice-president of the school, Geneva Marsh, recording secretary; and Lindsay Spry, treasurer. Sterlyn Hennis went to Boys' State. The junior class contributed the following officers to the Masque and Gavel: Geneva Marsh, vice-president; Martha Campbell, secretary; and Nancy Wall, treasurer. Juanita Cope and Bonnie Casey were inducted into the organization.

Our section of the annual was changed to the Blue and Gold, with Sterlyn Hennis becoming art editor for the three high schools, and Lindsay Spry, business manager. The Quill and Scroll inducted Betty Jean Atkinson, Thelma Clodfelter, Patsy Gough, Burton Rights, Lindsay Spry, Ruth Stovall, and Barbara Wilson. The school's paper was changed from Pine Whispers to the Gray Light with Betty Jean Atkinson, as feature editor; Patsy Gough, girls' sports editor; Charles Nimmo, associate editor; Mary Ruth McKnight, art editor; Barbara Wilson, exchange editor; and Burton Rights, boys' sports editor.

Inductees into the National Honor Society were Nancy Wall, Thelma Clodfelter, Burton Rights, Martha Campbell, Sterlyn Hennis, Geneva Marsh, and Lindsay Spry. Geneva Marsh was the only debater representing the juniors.

For the first time our class elected officers of the combined classes. They were president, Clarence Casey; vice-president, Charles Drum; secretary, Bonnie Casey; and treasurer, Burton Rights.

Geneva Marsh won the Americanism oratorical contest. Lindsay Spry, Burton Rights, and Alton Christie were chosen to go to Boys' State, and Geneva Marsh to go to Girls' State.

Senior Marshals for the year were Bonnie Casey, chief; Martha Campbell, Ruth Gordon, Betty Norman, Emily Stonestreet, Janet Carter, and Phyllis Smith.

Finally, on September 3, 1947, our dreams were realized. We became seniors! How dignified we felt marching into assembly and taking the front seats of the auditorium. It had been a long, hard struggle, but we had at last reached the climax. The year began with Geneva Marsh, president of the student organization; Randall Jones, corresponding secretary; and Bonnie Casey, recording secretary.

We organized our class, electing Charles Drum, president; Don Orander, vice-president; Ruth Gordon, secretary; and Betty Norman, treasurer.

Sterlyn Hennis was editor-in-chief of the Blue and Gold; Burton Rights, editor-in-chief of the Gray Light; Betty Lou Loflin, associate editor of the Gray Light; Barbara Cole, feature editor; and Martha Campbell, senior editor.

Superlatives chosen were best looking, Emily Stonestreet and Dick Sale; wittiest, Frank Jaro and Kate Fort; biggest flirts, Robbie Sue Pfaff and Jim Hutchins; most intellectual Geneva Marsh and Lindsay Spry; most likely to succeed, Geneva Marsh and Sterlyn Hennis; most popular, Geneva Marsh and Paul Jones; best sports, Bobby Feserman and Ruth Gordon; and best all around, Bonnie Casey and Jerry Jones.

Those inducted into the National Honor Society during their senior year were Betty Jean Atkinson, Orpha Gatewood, Peggy Pope, Gaynell Reece, Pat Wilkins, and Barbara Wilson.

The Key Club was organized during our senior year with the following officers being elected: Sterlyn Hennis, president; Norman Crews, vice-president; Jerry Jones, secretary; and Randall Jones, treasurer. Nine seniors were charter members of the club: Randall Jones, Lindsay Spry, Charles Drum, Don Orander, Dick Sale, Burton Rights, Sterlyn Hennis, Norman Crews, and Jerry Jones.

Paul Jones was selected to play on the North Carolina team in the Shrine Bowl Game.

The following officers for Class Day were elected: testator, Geneva Marsh; prophet, Burton Rights; and historian, Gaynell Reece. Marcia Henry and Thomas Allen Wingo were chosen as the mascots of the senior class. The Blue and Gold was dedicated to Mr. Craig Phillips.

Because of her participation in many school activities, Geneva Marsh was chosen as D. A. R. representative from Gray. Cheerleaders from our class were Martha Campbell, chief; Bonnie Casey, Geneva Marsh, Jim Hutchins, Polly Sue Carter, and LeRoy Alspaugh.

Now as we are on the threshold of new experiences, our minds are filled with memories of the past four years: memories of good times, bad times, lessons learned, friends made, standards and ideals formed. The principles for which Gray stands will ever be in our minds to help us in making our lives ones that will be worthwhile and of service to our fellow men.

GRAY LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF '48

We, the Senior Class of 1948, of James A. Gray High School, boasting not only a mentality that would put Einstein to shame but also a physical fitness that Atlas would envy, do hereby dispose of our priceless (?)

possessions as designated in this our Last Will and Testament.

ARTICLE I

Section I. To our beloved principal, Mr. J. A. Woodward, we extend our sincere appreciation for his continuous interest, enthusiasm, and assistance throughout our high school careers.

Section II. To the members of the faculty, we leave our deepest gratitude for their unceasing efforts in trying to pound knowledge into blockheads.

Section III. Hoping that they will become the little angels that we have been, we leave our halos to the junior class.

ARTICLE II

Section I. Paul Jones leaves his educated toe to Russell Jones, with the instructions to boot the ball that beats Reynolds.

Section II. Hoping he will live up to their standards, Sterlyn Hennis and Otis Everhart leave their unsurpassable artistic talent to Billy Easter.

Section III. Burton Rights leaves his furrowed brow, his inkstained fingers, and his unemptied waste basket to Sara Willard.

Section IV. With best wishes for successful results, Robbie Sue Pfaff leaves to Pat Seawell her secrets on how to snare a man.

Section V. To Becky Robertson, Corrinne Worrell bequeaths her place on the back seat of the school bus.

Section VI. Elbert Baucom leaves his blue convertible (dent and all) to sister Molly with instructions on how to drive masterfully.

Section VII. Ruth Gordon wills her nine green skirts to the baseball team, in case they decide to follow the fashion and acquire that "new look."

Section VIII. C. E. Stewart bequeaths his size 7 shoe to Ed Shamel with this advice: "For a perfect fit wear both shoes on one foot."

Section IX. Jim Hutchins and Frank Jaro leave their funny jokes (they think) to Buck Adams and Jim Nimmo with the hope that they will evoke a few laughs at least.

Section X. To Kenneth Grigg, Wilburn Wooten leaves his guitar and a supply of songs with this tip: "Croon a tune, and the maidens will swoon."

Section XI. Juanita Smith and Charles Drum will their vocal chords to Franklin White so that he will be able to carry a tune.

Print Shop Organization

This volume of the Black and Gold, Purple and Gold, and Blue and Gold, was produced by the combined efforts and abilities of the two trade printing classes at the R. J. Reynolds High School. The classes include students from the ninth through the twelfth grades.

All pages of the annual were printed on the cylinder press, four pages at a time. Feeding the cylinder were Gray Cranfill, Earl Norris, Jack Renegar, and Maurice Moser. These students were also responsible for cylinder make-ready.

The linotype material was produced by Vance Mullis, Bill Nifong, Charles Crater, Don James, Richard Hammett, and S. B. Sidden, Jr.

Make-up of the pages is contributed to Robert Henry, Billy Sherrill, Harold Cundiff, and Benny Templeton.

After the pages were run on the press, they were folded and cross-folded by the first year students as well as some of the advanced group.

First year students in the printshop are Charles

Chapple, Jack Conrad, Willis Goodman, Joe Griffin, John Sprinkle, Lloyd Yarbrough, Tommy Bricker, Raymond Caudle, Roger Holder, Jack Lyons, Ralph Peacock, Randal Shelton, Hassell Wall, Jack White, and James Williams.

In order for 2,500 copies of the annual to be finished by the end of school, work was carried on at night almost continuously through the months of March, April, and May.

In addition to the annual, ten issues of the Pine Whispers, Hanes Hi Rada, and Gray Light were set up and printed. Various school forms, tickets, programs, posters, and other jobs were printed during the year.

All composition, presswork, and binding was done by Reynolds High School Printshop students with the exception of sewing the books which was done by Clay Printing Co.

Instructional and directional work was done by Mr. Dale Vaughn of the Reynolds High School Faculty.
